DIN EN 17952:2024-08 (E)

Value Management - Function Analysis: Basic characteristics, Requirements and guidance for implementation; English version EN 17952:2024

Contents

Page

European foreword 4

Introduction 5

1 Scope 8

2 Normative references 9

3 Terms, definitions and abbreviated terms 9

4 Function Analysis overview 14
4.1 Context for Function Analysis 14
4.2 Function Analysis: a system approach 15
4.3 Function Analysis with its two distinct areas 16
4.3.1 General 16
4.3.2 Functional Need Analysis 19
4.3.3 Technical Function Analysis 20
4.4 Essential conditions for successful Function Analysis 21
4.4.1 Essential Conditions for success 21
4.4.2 Roles and contributions of the involved people 21
4.5 Function Thinking 22

5 Application of Function Analysis 22
5.1 General 22
5.2 Level of analysis 23
5.2.1 General 23
5.2.2 Top Management level of the organization: Vision and Strategy 23
5.2.3 Management level 23
5.2.4 Operational level 24
5.2.5 Day-to-Day Management 24
5.3 Integrating with other Disciplines 24
5.3.1 Risk management and Dependability 24
5.3.2 Sourcing and Procurement 25
5.3.3 Systems and Software Engineering 25
5.3.4 Innovation Management 25
5.3.5 Organization corporate social responsibility 26

6 Requirements for effective application of Function Analysis 26
6.1 General 26
6.2 Scope study 27
6.3 Identify functions and constraints 28
6.4 Organize the functions 30
6.5 Characterize the functions 30
6.6 Prioritizing the functions 31
6.7 Estimating efficiency of potential solutions 31

7 Requirements applicable to Function Analysis deliverables 32
7.1 General 32
7.2 Requirements applicable to Functional Need Analysis (FNA) deliverables 32
7.2.1 General 32
7.2.2 Study Scope 32
7.2.3 Description of the overall need 33

7.2.4 Search for identification and description of functions 34
7.2.5 Contribution to the definition and validation of the solution 37
7.2.6 Use of Functional Need Analysis 39
7.3 Requirements applicable to Technical Function Analysis (TFA) deliverables 39
7.3.1 General 39
7.3.2 Expected contributions 39
7.3.3 Study Scope 40
7.3.4 Description of the need to be satisfied 40
7.3.5 Description of functions 40
7.3.6 Contribution to the definition and validation of the solution 43
7.3.7 Use of Function Analysis for market testing and Competitive Advantage 46
Annex A (informative) Guidance applicable to the approach and methods of Function Analysis 48
Bibliography 57