Acoustics - Audiometric test methods - Part 1: Pure-tone air and bone conduction audiometry

Contents		Page
Foreword		v
Introduction		vi
1	Scope	1
2	Normative references	1
3	Terms and definitions	2
4	General aspects of audiometric measurements	4
4.1	General	4
4.2	Standard reference zero for the calibration of audiometric equipment	5
4.3	Requirements on audiometric equipment	5
4.4	Qualified tester	5
4.5	Test time	5
4.6	Conditions for audiometric test environments	5
4.7	Measurement uncertainty	6
5	Preparation and instruction of test subjects before audiometric testing and positioning of transducers	6
5.1	Preparation of test subjects	6
5.2	Instruction of test subjects	7
5.3	Placement of transducers	7
6	Air conduction hearing threshold level determinations using fixed-frequency audiometry	7
6.1	General	7
6.2	Manually controlled threshold determination	8
6.3	Hearing threshold determination with an automatic recording audiometer	10
6.4	Computer-controlled threshold determination	12
7	Air conduction hearing threshold level determinations using sweep-frequency audiometry	12
7.1	General	12
7.2	Presentation of test tone	12
7.3	Familiarization	12
7.4	Hearing threshold level measurement	12
7.5	Calculation of hearing threshold level at a specified frequency	12
8	Bone conduction hearing threshold audiometry	13
8.1	Method of audiometry	13
8.2	Occlusion	13
8.3	Airborne sound radiation from the bone vibrator	13
8.4	Vibrotactile sensation	13
8.5	Procedures for testing with masking in bone conduction audiometry	13
9	Screening audiometry	14
9.1	General	14
9.2	Procedure for the screening test	14

10	Audiograms	15
11	Permissible ambient noise	16
11.1	Permissible ambient noise for threshold determinations	16
11.2	Psycho-acoustic check on ambient noise	16
12	Maintenance and calibration of audiometric equipment	20
12.1	General	20
12.2	Intervals between checks	20
12.3	Stage A -- Routine checking and subjective tests	20
12.4	Stage B -- Periodic objective checks	21
12.5	Stage C -- Basic calibration tests	22
	Annex A (informative) Measurement uncertainty	23
	Bibliography	28
