

DIN EN 13523-3:2022-01 (E)

Coil coated metals - Test methods - Part 3: Colour difference and metamerism - Instrumental comparison

---

| Contents         |                             | Page |
|-------------------------|-----------------------------|-------------|
| European foreword ..... |                             | 3           |
| 1                       | Scope .....                 | 5           |
| 2                       | Normative references .....  | 5           |
| 3                       | Terms and definitions ..... | 6           |
| 4                       | Principle .....             | 6           |
| 4.1                     | Colour difference .....     | 6           |
| 4.2                     | Metamerism index .....      | 7           |
| 5                       | Apparatus .....             | 7           |
| 6                       | Sampling .....              | 7           |
| 7                       | Test specimens .....        | 7           |
| 8                       | Procedure .....             | 7           |
| 8.1                     | Calibration .....           | 7           |
| 8.2                     | Measurement .....           | 7           |
| 9                       | Expression of results ..... | 8           |
| 10                      | Accuracy .....              | 9           |
| 11                      | Test report .....           | 10          |
| Bibliography .....      |                             | 11          |