Foreword

Introduction

1 Scope

2 Normative references

3 Terms and definitions

4 Wildland fire variables

5 Environmental impact of wildland fires

5.1 General
5.2 Fire testing and data collection
5.3 Impact of wildland fire on air
5.3.1 Nature of impact
5.3.2 Quantification of impact
5.3.3 Mitigation of impact
5.4 Impact of wildland fire on water
5.4.1 Nature of impact
5.4.2 Quantification of impact
5.4.3 Mitigation of impact
5.4.3.1 Firefighting chemicals and firefighting water
5.4.3.2 Post-fire salvage harvesting operations
5.5 Impact of wildland fire on soil
5.5.1 Nature of impact
5.5.2 Quantification of impact
5.5.3 Mitigation of impact
5.6 Impact of wildland fire on vegetation
5.6.1 Nature of impact
5.6.2 Quantification of impact
5.6.3 Mitigation of impact
5.7 Impact of wildland fire on wildlife
5.7.1 Nature of impact
5.7.2 Quantification of impact
5.7.3 Mitigation of impact
5.8 Impact of wildland fire on exposed human populations
5.8.1 Nature of impact
5.8.2 Quantification of impact
5.8.3 Minimising health threats to exposed human populations
5.9 Impact of wildland fire on firefighters
5.9.1 Nature of impact
5.9.2 Quantification of impact
5.9.3 Mitigation of impact
5.10 Impact of wildland fire on food production
5.10.1 Nature of impact
5.10.2 Quantification of impact
5.10.3 Mitigation of impact
5.11 Impact of wildland fire on land, sea and air traffic
5.11.1 Nature of impact
5.11.2 Quantification of impact
5.11.3 Mitigation of impact

5.12 Impact of wildland fire on the built environment
5.12.1 Nature of impact
5.12.2 Quantification of impact
5.12.3 Mitigation of impact

6 The impact of firefighting activities

6.1 Nature of impact
6.2 Quantification of impact
6.3 Mitigation of impact

Annex A (informative) Wildland fire incidents and their environmental impact

A.1 General
A.2 Indonesian fires, 1997 and 2015
A.3 Victorian Alpine fires, Australia, 2003
A.4 Russia, 2004
A.5 Greece fires, 2007 and 2009
A.6 Waldo Canyon fire — Colorado, 2012
A.7 Fort McMurray fire — Canada, 2016
A.8 Thomas Fire — California, 2017

Annex B (informative) Airborne combustion products identified from wildland fires

B.1 General

Annex C (informative) Firefighting chemical additives and their environmental impact

C.1 General

Annex D (informative) Impact of climate change
