

ISO/TR 15599:2002-10 (E)

Digital codification of dental laboratory procedures

---

| Contents                         |  | Page |
|---|--|-------------|
| Foreword .....                          |  | iv          |
| Introduction .....                      |  | v           |
| 1                                       | Scope .....  | 1           |
| 2                                       | Normative references .....   | 1           |
| 3                                       | Principle .....  | 1           |
| 4                                       | Syntax .....   | 2           |
| 4.1                                     | Software opening file line .....   | 2           |
| 4.2                                     | Dentist's identification code line .....   | 2           |
| 4.3                                     | Laboratory identification code line .....  | 3           |
| 4.4                                     | Code line for the identification of a custom-made medical device .....   | 3           |
| 4.5                                     | Code line for the description and site of the medical device .....   | 4           |
| 4.6                                     | Identification and origin of the device constituent materials .....  | 4           |
| 4.7                                     | Optional code line for the identification of missing tooth/teeth to be replaced in individual prostheses ..... | 5           |
| 5                                       | Descriptions and definitions of codes .....  | 6           |
| 5.1                                     | Codes for dental laboratory procedures .....   | 6           |
| 6                                       | Classification of dental metals and alloys .....   | 8           |
| 7                                       | Classification of non-metallic materials .....   | 9           |
| 7.1                                     | Ceramic codes .....  | 9           |
| 7.2                                     | Polymer codes .....  | 10          |
| Annex B (informative) Explanation ..... |  | 12          |
| Bibliography .....                      |  | 15          |