

DIN EN ISO 6149-1:2019-09 (E)

Connections for hydraulic fluid power and general use - Ports and stud ends with ISO 261 metric threads and O-ring sealing - Part 1: Ports with truncated housing for O-ring seal (ISO 6149-1:2019)

---

| Contents                                                      | Page |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| European foreword .....                                              | 3           |
| Foreword .....                                                       | 4           |
| Introduction .....                                                   | 5           |
| 1 Scope .....                                                 | 6           |
| 2 Normative references .....                                  | 6           |
| 3 Terms and definitions .....                                 | 6           |
| 4 Dimensions .....                                            | 7           |
| 5 Interchangeability warning .....                            | 9           |
| 6 Test methods .....                                          | 9           |
| 7 Designation of ports .....                                  | 9           |
| 8 Identification .....                                        | 9           |
| 9 Identification statement (reference to this document) ..... | 10          |
| Bibliography .....                                                   | 11          |