ISO/IEC TS 33054:2020 (E)

Information technology — Process assessment — Process reference model for service management

Contents

Foreword

Introduction

1 Scope

2 Normative references

3 Terms and definitions

4 Overview of the process reference model

5 Process descriptions

- 5.1 General
- 5.2 COM.01 Communication management
- 5.3 COM.02 Documentation management
- 5.4 COM.03 Human resource management
- 5.5 COM.04 Improvement
- 5.6 COM.05 Internal audit
- 5.7 COM.06 Management review
- 5.8 COM.07 Non-conformity management
- 5.9 COM.08 Operational planning
- 5.10 COM.09 Operational implementation and control
- 5.11 COM.10 Performance evaluation
- 5.12 COM.11 Risk management
- 5.13 RAA.1 Business relationship management
- 5.14 RAA.2 Service level management
- 5.15 RAA.3 Service reporting
- 5.16 RAA.4 Supplier management
- 5.17 RAA.5 Service catalogue management
- 5.18 RAF.1 Incident management
- 5.19 RAF.2 Service request management
- 5.20 RAF.3 Problem management
- 5.21 SAD.1 Budgeting and accounting for services
- 5.22 SAD.2 Demand management
- 5.23 SAD.3 Capacity management
- 5.24 SAS.1 Service availability management
- 5.25 SAS.2 Service continuity management
- 5.26 SAS.3 Information security management
- 5.27 SDB.1 Service requirements definition
- 5.28 SDB.2 Service design
- 5.29 SDB.3 Service build and transition
- 5.30 SDB.4 Release and deployment management
- 5.31 SDE.1 Service delivery
- 5.32 SPC.1 Change management
- 5.33 SPC.2 Configuration management
- 5.34 TOP.01 Leadership

Annex A (informative) The relationship between management system requirements and a process reference model

- A.1 General
- A.2 Processes and process models
- A.2.1 Process seen in terms of inputs and outputs

A.2.2 Using a process reference model as a basis for understanding capability
A.3 The nature of requirements for a management system
A.4 The relationship of requirements to a process reference model
A.5 Illustrative example
A.5.1 General
A.5.2 Internal audit requirements and the internal audit process
A.6 Mapping of requirements with process outcomes

Annex B (informative) Statement of conformity to ISO/IEC 33004

B.1 General
B.2 Requirements for process reference models
B.3 Process descriptions

Page count: 73