

ISO Excellence Award 2016 goes to Dr Angelika Eksteen

Every year ISO awards a 'certificate of excellence' to those individuals that have provided outstanding service to the standards making community in the development of ISO standards.

ISO/IEC JTC 1/SC 27 is very proud to announce that Dr Angelika Eksteen has been awarded such a certificate for her significant contribution to the development of accreditation standards for ISO/IEC 27001:2013, which in particular, includes the editing of ISO/IEC 27006:2015 and through to the successful publication of this standard.

ISO/IEC 27001:2013 is the best selling, flagship standard on information security management of all time, and the family of ISO/IEC 27001 supporting standards play a critical part in the use and application of ISO/IEC 27001. Therefore the need for a quality accreditation standard such as ISO/IEC 27006:2015, as a part of this family, is beyond question and all credit for its successful development goes to its editor and her editing team, and to NB and WG 1 expert contributions.

This award is therefore a fitting tribute to all the hard work and tireless dedication that Dr Eksteen has applied as editor of ISO/IEC 27006 and to her management of her editing team, and the processing of NB and expert contributions. This award serves as an excellent example of the standard of professional editorship that can be achieved.

Members of ISO/IEC JTC 1/SC 27 congratulate Dr Eksteen for this well-deserved commendation.
